

Dress to Remember

A dementia-friendly project

Using the book Style in my DNA by Lorna Holder alongside the charity Elders Voice, these sessions will support people with dementia to revisit past moments through dress.

Elders Voice, 181 Mortimer Rd, London NW10 5TN

Introductory session: Thursday 6 July, 2-3pm

Fortnightly sessions: Start from Thursday 13 July 2- 3pm

other dates: 27 July, 10 August, 24 August, 7 September, 21 September, 5 October and 19 October

Dress to Remember

A dementia-friendly project

Using her book Style in my DNA, author, fashion designer and producer Lorna Holder alongside the charity Elders Voice, will guide people with dementia, revisiting past moments through dress.

Participants with dementia, their family members and carers are encouraged to bring photos of memorable family moments and occasions. They can then use these to explore memories from their own family past.

Brent Libraries, Museum and Archives hopes to develop their collections with your images and curate an exhibition using photos and objects of value produced during these sessions.

Receive a Brent Libraries copy of Lorna Holder's book Style in my DNA, when you join the introductory session.

In collaboration with Brent Libraries, Outreach and Heritage Services, Tuareg Productions Ltd, Better World Books and Elders Voice.

For further information
Phone: 020 8937 3400
Email: libraries@brent.gov.uk