LIVING UNDER ONE ROOF

SYNOPSIS

Nottingham 1961. Sent from Jamaica to study law, instead CARL JOSEPH becomes a man of property. It's hard for Caribbeans to find rooms to rent, even harder for a respectable ex-Policeman with cash in his hand. Frustrated, he uses his fees to buy a damp five-bedroom house. He marries lost-love BLOSSOM, and they open their doors to a volatile mix of tenants. Suddenly Carl goes to Jamaica on business, and fails to return. Feeling betrayed and abandoned, Blossom is forced to confront her deepest fears and suspicions about Carl's absence. As the house descends into chaos, the question is: how will she survive?
